TABLE 3: New York State Prosecutions by Most Severe Sentence and Disposition Type*[4]

*Data for defendants arraigned on Class E felonies from November 2020 through May 2024.

| Count of Most Severe Sentence | Disposition Type | | | | | | |
Most Severe Sentence	Dism-ACD	Dismissed	Plea	Unknown	Verdict-ACQ	Verdict-TFG	Grand Total
	6,079	16,995	4,802	213	85	22	28,196
Conditional Discharge		7	11,028			5	11,040
Fee			16				16
Fine		13	7,316			34	7,363
Imprisonment		13	15,597		1	106	15,717
License			16				16
License Revoked			39				39
License Suspended		1	8				9
Other		3	21				24
Probation	1	7	8,309			22	8,339
Restitution	1		63				64
Surcharge			135				135
Unconditional Discharge		1	174				175
Grand Total	6,081	17,040	47,524	213	86	189	71,133

[4]To conduct this analysis, we downloaded and compiled two .csv files publicly available at OCA-STAT Act Report. Data spanned from November of 2020 to May 2024. We refined the data to include only disposed cases in which the top charge was a Class E felony and further refined that data to remove cases that were likely duplicates (e.g., where the case was consolidated into another docket) or cases marked "other," which were irrelevant (e.g., due to being abated by death). This analysis yielded 71,113 cases, of which approximately 33% were dismissed or acquitted. Of the remaining approximately 67% of cases in which defendants were convicted either through a plea deal or a guilty verdict at trial, 15,703 were sentenced to incarceration (approximately 33%), or 22% of total cases charged for Class E felonies.